How Do 9k Movies Cloud Work?

The 9k movies cloud website first steals movies, uploads them to cloud servers, and then links to the site. However, that website lacks a legitimate license that would allow it to upload and distribute movies to users. They keep videos on other illegal drives and use a download button to link to their website.

Furthermore, due to copyright infringement issues, the website often gets blocked by DMCA, forcing it to switch to a new domain name and continue running its operations. Despite operating from India and using VPNs, the website's ability to evade police investigation is due to the frequent change of IP addresses. Additionally, to generate revenue, the 9k movies cloud employs deceptive tactics such as displaying harmful advertisements and redirecting users to malicious sites, earning commissions in the process. This is how the website remains active on the internet.
